CHOOSING THE RIGHT PROGRAM

Livestock Price Insurance is built to manage three types of risk: price, basis and currency. The program helps to manage these risks for cattle and hog producers throughout the various stages of production.

CALF

LPI – Calf is designed for the cow-calf producer. Having a tool available to help protect against the ‘unknowns’ of the fall calf market and associated price volatility can assist a producer with being more profitable.

FEEDER

LPI – Feeder is designed to insure feeder cattle using a forecasted future market driven price. The program is based on local markets and will help producers who background cattle to better manage the risks in today’s unpredictable cattle market.

FED

LPI – Fed offers price insurance for finished cattle that are intended for slaughter and expected to grade A or better. This program takes the difficulty out of managing all three risks that producers face (price, currency and basis) and combines them into one product.

HOG

LPI – Hog is a simple and easy to understand risk management tool for Western Canada’s hog producers. It offers a risk management alternative to futures and options, with a highly transparent, fixed cost to the producer. The program strives to be timely and market driven. Hog producers have the ability to choose an insured price, providing them with coverage that acts as protection against drops in the market for the month insurance is purchased for.

- Policy lengths from 2 - 10 months
- Coverage: forecasted using CME, exchange rate or Canadian dollar, basis, AB Factor
- Coverage increments: $2 per 100 kg (dressed weight)
- Expiration Date: at the end of each contract month
- No claim window: policy settled automatically at the expiration date
- Settlement: based on a monthly average price
